The following are translations of various Leftist handbills found in Athens:

"Fight: for the restoration of the people's liberties, for the abolition of the sinister Makronisos "Reformatory" which is a blot on human civilization, for General Amnesty. Forward in the battle for the survival of our people, for bread, for work, for a life worthy of a human being.

Liberal Leftist Youth."

"We the living youth of Greece greet the workers' May Day as a day which symbolizes all the honorable struggles of our working people for bread, liberty, and democracy.

"Workers of our country, with faith and fanaticism fill up the ranks of the real democratic democratic (sic) forces of the country, and fight honorably and decisively for bread, liberty, peace, democracy, for the abolition of the fascistic special measures and of the death-isle-Dachau and of savage terrorism; fight for general amnesty.

"Long live our gigantic working people
Long live the workers' May Day.

EPON of Athens."

"Long live the workers' May Day! Unite in the Democratic Front! In the factories, offices, and local districts form people's committees! Fight for General Amnesty, for the abolition of Makronisos, for bread, and peace.

EPON."

"Long live the Workers' May Day, the symbol of a sacred struggle! Down with the appointed labor leaders! Down with the servants of the oligarchy! Let trade union liberties be restored! Let the chained labor unionists be freed. Bread and work for the people!

Labor Union Organization of the Leftist Liberal Youth."
